Charles Baudelaire, “The Painter of Modern Life” (1863) III. An Artist, Man Of The World, Man Of Crowds, And Child Today I want to talk to my readers about a singular man, whose originality is so powerful and clear-cut that it is self-sufficing, and does not bother to look for approval.

Charles Baudelaire | Poetry Foundation
Charles Baudelaire is one of the most compelling poets of the 19th century. While Baudelaire’s contemporary Victor Hugo is generally—and sometimes regretfully—acknowledged as the greatest of 19th-century French poets, Baudelaire excels in his unprecedented expression of a complex sensibility and of modern themes within structures of classical rigor and technical ...

Charles Baudelaire - Wikipedia
Charles Baudelaire nacque a Parigi, in Francia, il 9 aprile 1821 in una casa del quartiere latino, in rue Hautefeuille nº 13, e venne battezzato due mesi dopo nella chiesa cattolica di Saint-Sulpice. Suo padre si chiamava Joseph-François Baudelaire; si trattava di un ex-sacerdote e capo degli uffici amministrativi del Senato, amante della pittura e dell'arte in genere, e come prima ...

Symbolism (arts) - Wikipedia
Symbolism was a late 19th-century art movement of French, Russian and Belgian origin in poetry and other arts seeking to represent absolute truths symbolically through language and metaphorical images, mainly as a reaction against naturalism and realism. In literature, the style originates with the 1857 publication of Charles Baudelaire's Les Fleurs du mal.

Une Charogne (A Carcass) by Charles Baudelaire
— Charles Baudelaire. A Carcass. My love, do you recall the object which we saw, That fair, sweet, summer morn! At a turn in the path a foul carcass On a gravel strewn bed, Its legs raised in the air, like a lustful woman, Burning and dripping with poisons, Displayed in a shameless, nonchalant way Its belly, swollen with gases.
